Product Description

, GC Equia Coat is a high-strength, low-shrinkage, and easy-to-use composite material. It is designed for use in restorative dentistry, particularly for filling cavities and repairing damaged teeth. The material is known for its excellent adhesion to tooth structure, which helps to prevent leakage and secondary decay. It also has a high modulus of elasticity, which allows it to withstand the forces of chewing without fracturing. The low shrinkage property is particularly beneficial, as it minimizes the risk of polymerization shrinkage, which can lead to gaps between the filling and the tooth. Overall, GC Equia Coat is a reliable and effective choice for dental professionals looking to provide high-quality restorative care to their patients.
